Hammond, LA 70401

To Whom it May Concern,

Jeff would be a significant asset to a Downtown Development District. Having graduated from law school in 2005 and with experience as a real estate attorney, Jeff brings a strong legal background. This is crucial for navigating the complex legal landscape associated with downtown development projects, including zoning regulations, land use planning, and contractual agreements. Jeff's position at the #4 title company in Louisiana provides him with a deep understanding of title issues, property transfers, and the intricacies of real estate transactions. This knowledge is invaluable for ensuring smooth and legally sound property development within the Downtown Development District. His involvement as a property and business owner indicates a vested interest in the community's well-being. This community-oriented perspective aligns well with the goals of a Downtown Development District, which often aims to enhance the economic, social, and cultural vitality of the area.

Sincerely,

Bryan Wong
